

“The butterfly counts not months but moments, and has time enough.” Rabindranth Tagore

Happy November and Thanksgiving! Time for feasts, fun and gatherings. My two kitties are ready to pounce on the turkey! Let's all show gratitude for what we have and can give this fall season. I know I am grateful for all the friendships and help I have received this year for "Fur Shui" et al!

EVENTS AND MY NEWS FLASHES

“FUR SHUI™” GOES INTERNATIONAL!

“Fur Shui”™ An Introduction to Animal Feng Shui.

It is with great excitement that I announce my book “Fur Shui” has made it “across the pond” and is available in the UK. Also, the book is being translated into Italian and will be in Italy next year. I am so pleased “Fur Shui” is spreading love all around the world! Will be posting European interviews as well as Canadian radio interviews on my site soon. AND, by also holding an Irish Passport I am excited to see my book find a home in my grandmother’s pretty native land. Kuddos, Ciao and Cheerio to all who helped in making this possible. Let the great fur chi keep on flowing strong!

Next “Fur Shui” events:

NOVEMBER 20, The Jeff Lumby in the Morning with Gayle O’Brien on 107.5 Dave FM, Ontario, Canada

I had the wonderful pleasure of talking with Jeff and Gayle early in the AM coming from just outside of chilly Toronto, CA. Take a look at Gayle’s blog and listen into the interview about “Fur Shui”. Good to talk to animal lovers from the great white North...love Toronto!!

A very FUN show, tune in and find out...click here for Gayles blog: <http://davefm.com/home/FunStuff/GayleOBrienBlog/tabid/822/id/11663/Default.aspx>

NOVEMBER 28, FRI., 4 PM - 8PM, I will be at a local event at “Queen Eileen’s” in Encinitas on the Coast Highway. A 20% portion of what you buy at “Queen Eileen’s will be donated to Rancho Coastal Humane Society...WHEN you mention Rancho Coastal! I will be there offering “Fur Shui” the book as well as some neat animal note cards...just in time for the holidays! 760.436.4845

WHERE?

Been having some fun close to home at many “Holiday Open Houses” meeting all sorts of nice folks. Days are getting shorter, but there is still enough daylight to get in a bike ride and spend some time introducing my book. Visited Palm Springs a couple of weeks ago and was a “vendor” at the 2008 “Rainbow Runway” fashion show. Fun times and generous donations to desert charities for both 2 and 4 legged folks. My annual 2 day charity “Chakra and Energy Road Map Readings” benefiting Rancho Coastal Humane Society was a big success in the Carlsbad and Del Mar CA, stores of DEXTER’S DELI. Thanks for all your support and contributions to a great cause!

WHO, HOW AND WHAT?

Sent in by a client and great fan of “Fur Shui”!

Elected the “Cutest Fur Companion”!

Just a “had to be” thing. Nancy H’s “Angel” kitty love is elected the fluffiest, giving me a warm hug with laughter...so am sharing with you all. Hey, everyone, send in your cute shots and I will try to sneak them into the newsletter ever so often!

Angel, a fluffy purr love ball indeed!

Happy travels for the holidays and a link to The Honest Kitchen folks who provide great “travel” fur folk food!

People are traveling about for the holidays and I wanted to offer a few “in general tips” gathered from all the advice and reading I have been collecting on traveling with pets.

1. Always have a pet ID tag on your animal when traveling. Have a separate ID on your carriers as well as their leashes, harness, collars, even beds and accessories. Hey, put your own ID on yourself with your animal’s name and description when you are out and about. How about putting all the vital info on a card as well in your wallet with emergency numbers, names Vets and Drs. Be prepared!
2. Take along some good old Rescue Remedy flower essence for you and your pet. Great to have when changes, forced “waits” as well as new places come up for you both. At full strength, just one drop in the mouth (or paws or noses for kitties) for fur folks and a couple of drops for you in stressful situations...takes the “edge” off.
3. Bring WATER for both of you as well as some familiar toys, blankets for your pets. Also, a first aid kit (and knowing how to use it) for you and your fur friend is essential.
4. However, wherever you go...do your HOMEWORK! Find out where the pet friendly places are, the times, the temps, the distances, the local vets and ERs, all that good stuff that makes your trip smooth and fun for both you and your pet. A great source for pet friendly destinations is Fido friendly at: www.fidofriendly.com/
5. Take healthy pet food that is easy to pack, portable as well as easy to prepare.

The Honest Kitchen has a variety of dehydrated organic food for both dogs and cats. My cats crave “Prowl”! Packs come in travel sizes as well as larger...go to www.thehonestkitchen.com and tell them Paula sent you! Happy Trails!
