

"Don't compromise yourself, you are all you've got." Janis Joplin

Happy summer to you all! We are all seemingly "off and running". Warm weather here, a bit of marine layer but mostly nice! The Tour de Fur is having loads of fun traveling around the world. From Encinitas, CA to Stone Henge, England the book is having the BEST birthday party yet!

EVENTS AND MY NEWS FLASHES

"FUR SHUI"™

"Fur Shui"™ An Introduction to Animal Feng Shui.

"The Tour de Fur" is posted on my blog at: <http://furshui.blogspot.com> Go take a peek at so many wonderful fur folks and places. Thanks for all who have contributed. If you want to receive the book on it's Tour, just e-mail me at paula@furshui.com and I will link you up to one of the books! I am sending out the news sheet late in each month due to the Tour...want to announce the lucky participants at the end of each month. Here are the fur folk "winners" of chakra reads for this month of June from the Tour!

Twizzle the dog above wins the most cute photo this month! He sure is "into" the book! Caleb to the left is relaxing and enjoying the healing vibes of Fur Shui. Denise's Mr. Rico recharges in his fame zone lower left and Kehau's little Queenie the cat says "Aloha" from Kona, HA. Roosevelt, Nancy's cat is curious about the career section!

WHERE?

It's summer and I am re-tooling, renewing, biking and socializing a bit! Trying to take it a bit slow, but finding it is so much fun to be out and about. Fur Shui and I went to opening day of Polo down in Del Mar, CA and had fun seeing the matches AND the fixed wing planes that landed on the grassy grounds for the day. And, good friends, good flat beach paths here in San Diego around Mission Bay make for a great summer start!

Ms. Jean & Fur Shui at Polo! "The Pedalpushers" along Sunset Cliffs, San Diego!

WHO, HOW AND WHAT?

A new book and some new connections for you!

Last month you saw Dolce the Rabbit in the news sheet as part of the Tour de Fur...well her person Paula Margulies has had her book "Coyote Heart" released! Congrats to you Paula. Here's a "slice" of the book: "Coyote Heart tells the story of Carolyn Weedman, a forty-year-old librarian trapped in a troubled marriage with a disabled husband. After a chance encounter with a widowed Pala Indian professor, Carolyn finds herself drawn into an unexpected love affair. Torn by conflicting feelings, she discovers a secret about her husband's past that forces her to confront her divided emotions and choose between the two men that she loves." Go to her site at: www.paula-margulies.com to see how to purchase!

An Elephant and her one very special friend!

Recently featured on CBS, "Sunday Morning" is the story of Tarra the elephant and Bella her dog friend. This is such a lovely story...you just have to check it out at: <http://www.elephants.com/tarra/TarraBella.php> Bella and Tarra reside at the Elephant sanctuary in Hohenwald, Tenn. where animals are respected and valued for their natural worth and not valued for what work they can do for humans. Animals bring their energetic love, joy, loyalty and forgiveness to all naturally. Yahoo for the unusual friendship of Tarra the elephant and Bella the stray dog. Cheers for the elephant sanctuary and its people. Go to <http://www.elephants.com> and see the wonderful thing called "love" in action...better yet, help them out!

20 reasons why to adopt a cat.

Boomer the cat (now passed) was on the "list" of 20 reasons why to adopt a cat recently. This came to me at a great time of remembrance of his love. I had written this many months before he passed and here it is! Go to this site for more neat things about cats (there is one for dogs as well!): <http://gofetchgifts.com/blog/for-fun/20-reasons-to-adopt-a-cat-from-20-happy-pet-owners/>

5. I have a very special cat that entertains me daily by explicitly letting me know "who is who" as guests step into my home. This seems only natural to have a "communicating cat" due to my being an animal communicator. He has a talent for sorting out the genuinely nice folks, who are the "givers," and the people who are the "takers." He does this by greeting them at the door, checking them out and then coming to me and either purring or meowing loudly. The purrs are for the folks who are "OK" and the meows are for the one's who are "NOT." He also leads me out of a room when the "NOT" person is in the same room by meowing and rubbing up against me and showing me how to leave an area. Being a very talented judge of character, he is spot on 100% of the time. During the day he loves to grab a helium balloon by the long ribbon with his mouth and carry it about and play with it. At night he quietly collects toys and brings them onto my bed as gifts so I wake up in the morning with small cat toys around me. The caring and love that this brings to my life is exactly why I will always have a cat.
